Many Civilians Recognized For Services in Late War

OTTAWA, (CP)—Recognition of Canada's best civilian war effort recipients was given during the annual ceremony at the Governor General's residence in Ottawa Sunday in a unique King's Dominion Day ceremony that contained 1,180 names.
The list touched a wide range of voluntary efforts, from the production of national war financing. There were civil servants who assumed great additional wartime responsibilities and dollar-a-year men who helped carry the heavy administrative load.

There were newspapermen at home and on the war front, an artist, a musician and a poet. There also were Canadian labor explorers who sailed through the icy northwest passage.

No Canada Medal
The list resulted in something of a surprise in capital circles in that the expected announcement of first awards of the Canada medal did not appear.

Prime Minister King, in an early war statement, said that decorations to civilians would be suspended until peacetime, and announced that a distinctive Canada medal which would be distributed after the end of the war. He also spoke of a distinctive Canadian order.

Three Canadian leaders of the war were among those receiving the highest award—companionships in the order of St. Michael and St. George.

They are: A. Y. Jackson of Toronto, one of Canada's leading artists, who brightened service men at home and overseas with his own paintings and devised a reproduction scheme by which the work of all leading Canadian artists was mass-produced for the war effort; distribution among military camps.

Dr. Wilfred Pelletier, Montreal conductor and musician, who gave his services in many wartime concert.

Edwin John Pratt, Toronto poet, whose most widely read work was on the return of the Canadian forces from overseas.

Awarded C.M.G.'s

The C.M.G. list also contained the names of John H. Berry of Ottawa, president of War Assets Corporation in charge of the war job of disposing Canada's war surplus; Leonard W. Brockington of Ottawa, who served in the war capacities but is probably best known as a lawyer and for his intimate national broadcasts on the forces; Dr. Augustin Frigon, general manager of the C.B.C.

D. C. Coleman, chairman and president of the C.P.R. and R. C. Vaughan, chairman and president of the C.N.R. Dr. Norman M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, and former chairman of the wartime information board.

Labor Men Honored

In the list of Commanders of the Order of the British Empire (C.B.E.) were the chiefs of the principal labor groups in Canada: Percy R. Benbow, Ottawa, of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada; A. R. Mosier, Ottawa, of the Canadian Congress of Labor; and Alfred Charpentier, Montreal, of the Catholic Confederation of Labor.

Among the other C.B.E.'s were J. W. G. (Joe) Clark, Ottawa, former chief of public relations of the three armed forces; Asst. Com. H. A. R. O'Connell, Ottawa, who directed R.C.M.P. investigation in the recent espionage case; James H. Hannam, Ottawa, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture; and Walter S. Thompson, C.N.R. director of public relations.

Also awarded the C.B.E. were: Frank J. Burd, a director of The Southern Company, Limited, and former publisher of the Vancouver Daily Province.

Phillip Sydney Fisher, D.S.O. of Montreal, president of The Southam Company, Limited, and active in welfare and war service work.

Emile Jean of Three Rivers, Que., managing director of Le Nouvelliste and chairman of the French language section of the Canadian Publishers War Finance Publicity committee.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Ross of Vancouver won awards. He was naval armaments controller and held various shipping appointments during the war while she was administrator of furs and oils for the price board. Mr. Ross

Miriam de S. S. Serebo, beautiful 22-year-old Italian movie star who hopes for a Hollywood contract and a chance to forget her family tragedy in the American movie Mecca. She is the sister of Claretta Petacci whose 12-year-old love affair with Benito Mussolini ended in violent death for the pair at the hands of Italian partisans.

Lack Theatres London Crowds

LONDON, (CP)—Show business is so good in entertainment-crazing London that new productions and established provincial hits are being turned up to wait their turn for theatres.

With more than 40 houses occupied and most of them playing consistently to capacity, actors and managers are clamoring for reasonably near London stages on which to present plays or musicals kept in the provinces long beyond the original intention.

Many of those, setting out on the road under the brave billing prior to London production, have been forced to give closing notice for lack of a theatre to which to play.

Blitz damage has been repaired, allowing some additional elbow room, but the space shortage is so acute that only a number of new shows can solve the problem created by perpetuation of the wartime entertainment boom.

Bracken to Give Views in Debate

By Victor Mackie
OTTAWA—Opposition Leader John Bracken will break his long silence on his stand regarding the dominion-provincial confederation when he participates in the budget debate in a week's time, it was learned.

OTTAWA, (CP)—Two children lost their lives and a third child was badly burned when fire Saturday destroyed the one-storey home of their parents in suburban Montreal.

won a C.M.G. and Mrs. Ross a C.B.E.

Mayors Get Awards

Two well-known mayors were mentioned. Robert H. Saunders of Toronto got the C.B.E. and Stanley Lewis, Ottawa, was made an Officer of the Order of the British Empire (O.B.E.).

Home front newspapermen like the wartime presidents of the parliamentary press gallery and some of the war front correspondents also won C.B.E.'s.

Among the war correspondents honored were Richard Sanburn, Southern newspaper war correspondent; Rose Munro and Maurice Desjardins of the Canadian Press; Matthew Hailon of the CBC; Gregory Clark, formerly with the Toronto Star.

One of the most colorful recipients of this decoration was Mrs. George Black, wife of the Progressive Conservative member for the Yukon and once a member for that riding.

Arthur W. Holmes, Ottawa, a CBC engineer who risked his life getting the best recordings of shell fire during the war, also won the O.B.E.

The same order went to Gilbert A. LaBine, Toronto, who played a large part in the development of the Eldorado mine which supplied uranium for atomic bomb production, and J. G. Glesne, Toronto, who conducted a highly secretive investigation in connection with the mine. His report has not been made public.

Jule Castonguay, Ottawa, chief electoral officer, who directed the wartime June 11, 1945, general election, was among the men who were made Companions of the Imperial Service Order (I.S.O.).

A Gaspé priest who trained the "Gueters"—civilian—military defense organization on a section of that peninsula—was in the list of those who won membership in the Order of the British Empire (M.B.E.). He is Rev. Regis Grenier of Ste. Therese, Gaspé.

A bar to the Pacific medal went to staff-sergeant Henry A. Larsen, skipper of the St. Roch which made a cruise of more than one year in Arctic waters, exploring the Northwest Passage. Ten of his crew were also honored.

French Premier Kindles Hopes

PARIS, (CP CABLE)—Dapper and courageous Georges Bidault, France's third premier since the liberation, is away to a good start and high hopes are held that by October the Fourth Republic will have an acceptable constitution and a general assembly that will be elected after five-year terms.

Until the prolonged constitutional issue is settled, France is fated to continue in vague and uncertain political situations. But the coalition government now has been chosen and the constituent assembly is getting down to preparing the constitution for presentation to the voters in a referendum.

The assembly actually has seven months in which to do this but it is merely amending the constitution rejected last June and is bringing it more into line with the demands of the electorate.

M. Bidault, leader of the Movement Republican, Popular and Socialist, was the last French government under Socialist Premier Felix Gouin, is urging top priority to the drafting of the constitution so the referendum vote can be taken by fall. He recently asked for a party truce during the interval.

Jubilee Services Are Held in City

Special Jubilee services were held at the Edmonton Arena Sunday morning, which were attended by about 2,500 persons from in and around Edmonton and representatives from various parts of Canada and the United States.

THE REV. D. H. SCHMIDT of St. Louis, Missouri, delivered the message, pointing out that the world needs to know the Lord Jesus Christ, for it is bleeding from the wounds of many wars and needs spiritual comfort in the present day turmoil.

The afternoon service commemorated the twenty-fifth anniversary of organized church work in Western Canada on the part of the Missouri Synod Lutheran Church, as well as the Silver Anniversary of the Rev. Dr. Behnken, president of the Missouri Synod, showed what great things God had done for the church and that members should show their gratitude by consecrated service in the church, particularly in a time "when the world is walking on the thin crust of a seething volcano that may break at any time."

CONGRATULATORY telegrams were received from the 20 districts of the Missouri Synod of Canada and the United States, as well as from the sister colleges and seminaries maintained by this Lutheran denomination.

A choir of over 200 voices augmented both services, conducted by Dr. A. H. Schwermann of Concordia College.

In the evening there was an informal gathering on the campus of Concordia College at which the Honorable R. E. Ansley, minister of education, brought the felicitations of the Alberta government on behalf of Premier Ernest Manning, who was not able to be present. In his address Mr. Ansley spoke of the necessity of combining the spiritual with the secular in the field of education. "Narrow materialism is leading the world to a number of dangerous points," he said.

George Fazio Wins Canadian Open Title in 18-Hole Playoff

Los Angeles Pro Batters Dick Metz by One Stroke

By W. R. Whistler
BEACONSFIELD GOLF CLUB (CP)—In a tense, drama-packed final round of the most thrilling tournament could offer—George Fazio, a three-year-old pro from Los Angeles, Monday blasted a two-under par 70 to win the Canadian open golf championship. Fazio, 30, of Los Angeles, Kan., by a single stroke margin in a 18-hole playoff.

It was a terrific uphill fight almost all the way for Fazio, who moved in front when Metz blew himself to a six on the par three 18th hole, then Fazio nearly three the title and $2,000 first prize money right back in Metz's lap on the home green.

Fazio, down four strokes after playing 11 holes, had been playing and capitalized on Metz' misuses in the second nine when the Arkansean professional went on a brilliant, four-under-par 32.

Metz Slipped Here
He picked up three strokes in one grand sweep at the 17th and gained another one of the 18th when Metz went over par. The whole picture had suddenly changed and Metz was sent in front by two strokes.

From there an almost everything in the book happened and the victory—a small holiday crowd of about 1,000—was left groggy.

Both Fazio and Metz were wild with their second stroke. Fazio caught a hard tree and hit the green and it flew over the bank into thick bushes and shrubbery behind the gallery.

He peeked and pored into the bushes and elected to take a penalty stroke and dropped the ball on the bank in the clear and then lifted it to the right and back the pin, 15 feet from the cup.

This Did It
Metz got out of the bunker to the hole. Metz put was two feet short but he got down on his next try and a par five.

Metz went on to win the title by a single stroke margin in a 18-hole playoff. He took his time, rapped his feet straight for the hole and then up, then seemed to gain momentum and dropped in.

That putt meant Metz, who was on a blazing display Sunday to tie the early 27 for the 72 holes of medal play, had to be satisfied with second place money of $1,400.

Leonard's Stan Leonard just missed making it a three-way play-off by one stroke. He was 27 and 30 enough to gain him the Rivermead cup, awarded the low-scoring Canadian professional.

Leonard, 30, of Vancouver, British Columbia, was sharing three-place money with him were Lloyd Mangrum, United States open champion, and Harry Todd of Dallas.

Canucks Tighten Junior Ball Race

Val Berg's Canadians Tightened their grip on second place in the Edmonton Junior Baseball League

Val Berg's Canadians tightened their grip on second place in the Edmonton Junior Baseball League Sunday afternoon when they pounded three South Side chucksers.

The win left Canucks just one game behind the unbeaten Arrows. Canadians had little trouble in turning back the South sideers, despite the score. They built up a 10-4 lead in the first four innings and were never in serious trouble.

Although Paul Marlett's nine managed to come within three runs of the winners in the eighth, the Canucks' pitching was too good for them.

Bob Fleming pitched for Canada for his second win against no defeat. Fleming left the mound with a 10-4 lead. Tom McCreigh finished up for the victors.

Marlett strangled three chucksers to the mound.

DRYDOCKED HOUSE: Homeless after being dispossessed, Jim Goodhue, Erieau fisherman, bought the unused lightkeeper's house on the Lake Erie shore from the Dominion Government for $300 and, with the help of neighbors, floated it on a drydock to a new site a mile down the shore of Rondeau Bay. The 50-year-old house is seen being moved on to the floating drydock, with the lighthouse in the background.

THE GOODHUE TUG, Clara G., with Goodhue at the helm, tows drydock and house down the bay. Trip took only an hour after two weeks of preparation.

A number of arrests have been made.

HERE'S RESULTS OF FAMINE: Before you reach for that second helping consider Marie Wilson whom you see (left) when she was a big eater and (right) as she is today as a result of a "famine" diet. She shed 60 pounds, won a "beautify your figure contest", and was rewarded with 10-day trip to New York. Now she has offers from model agencies.

Shipping officials estimate that the damage will be near the $10,000 mark.

NEW BRITISH ENVOY: Lord Inverchapel, left, new British Ambassador to the United States, pays his first call to Secretary of State James Byrnes. Lord Inverchapel, who as Archibald Clark-Kerr was long known as a British diplomatic figure, created a stir when he arrived in Halifax by saying Canada should keep the Union Jack in the flag. ## Edmontonians Mark Holiday Week-End

Edmonton residents joined with the rest of the Dominion at the week-end in celebrating the 79th anniversary of Canadian confederation. Ideal holiday weather prevailed on Sunday and Monday and holiday-makers took every advantage of it.

HIGHWAYS WERE crowded all day with pleasure seekers making their way from the city to one of the outlying lakes. Alberta Beach, Seba, Cooking Lake and many others reported their largest crowds of the year as Edmontonians thronged to these popular resorts for picnics, swimming, fishing and dancing.

Others made use of the fine weather to get gardens into shape and still others took part in the golfing, tennis and lawn bowling tournaments or enjoyed the many athletic events that took place. RAIN ON SATURDAY evening canceled the South Side Legion senior soccer fixture and the scheduled Cubs and Eskimos baseball game at Renfrew park, but double-header games, on both Saturday and Monday, were well attended.

The Highland games, annual athletic and piping events, which were held at the South Side Athletic grounds drew a record crowd and enthusiasm ran high. For those who preferred to spend a cool, quiet Dominion day, special feature pictures were arranged in local theatres.

If You Want Better Figure Scorn Scarce Grains, Fats

NEA Staff Writer
MOST women could pass up bread and butter entirely, and while helping humanity's all-out fight against famine, weather, and while to a much nicer figure and a longer life-expectancy. So say some nutritionists, without mincing words.

For those who want to reduce, now is the time when you can do the world a service by substituting low-caloried foods in plentiful supply for scarce, high-caloried grains and fats.

To help you key your reducing diet to the times, other nutritionists—this time the food specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture—show you how to subtract calories so the total gives you a safe figure-trimming diet. Here's how:

When you omit one tablespoon of fat, for example, from your diet—in fried potatoes and salad dressing—you cut 100 calories from your daily intake.

To trim off from 100 to 300 calories, substitute fruits and cereals for such baked desserts as pie and cake.

You shave off another 100 calories when you pass up a thick slice of bread or an average serving of cereal.

Add these up, and see if you aren't lopping off calories in sizeable chunks—enough in a well-planned diet to lose 10 to 15 pounds. And think how much grain and fat would be released for the starving peoples of war-torn countries if every overweight woman gave up just enough of these to slough off her burdensome pounds.

What you can have, because they're plentiful and healthful, are fruits, and vegetables, including potatoes. For the Vitamin B that you need, the food specialists suggest that you eat seed-type vegetables often—peas, lima beans, and corn. They insist that you also eat plenty of protein foods, such as milk, eggs and poultry.

A trimmer figure and abundant energy are rewards for substituting fruits and vegetables for scarce grains in your diet.

All of these suggestions are for women who tip the scales as much as 15 pounds more than they should. If you are under 20 years old, are a young mother, or have organic complications, you are an exception who should reduce under a physician's guidance.

ace, ruffs a diamond, leads a spade to the ace, ruffs a small club and cashes two more spade tricks.

At this point he must lead the queen of hearts. West wins with three king and comes back with a club, which South ruffs. Now declarer should lead the nine of hearts.

If West wins with the ten, West must lead right back into the jack-seven. If he refuses to win, declarer bangs down the ace and jack of hearts, and West makes only one more heart trick.

Why Grow Old?

Actress Angela Greene agrees that mascara should be chosen carefully with regard to the color of dress you will be wearing and the occasion for which it will be worn.

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

THE WORD GLAMOUR might be said to include the meaning of "charm for the eyes." Nan Merriman, lovely mezzo-soprano artist, believes in dipping your eyes in glamour. She also believes that the first dipping agent is pumy of sleep. Her own blue eyes sparkle, as she advises that every woman check in for at least eight hours a night. Miss Merriman, who spends part of her days and nights before the blindingly bright footlights, indulges in eye rest periods during each day. This busy young lady gets in her daily stint by vacuizing at home with her eyes closed.

Miss Merriman also thinks that the clever use of makeup will add much glamour to the face. After the regular makeup application she brushes the brows and lashes with a pomade to be sure that none of the powder is clinging to them. She suggests a selection of several colors of mascara, some for afternoon, others for evening. Miss Merriman's own selection of mascara differs from many because the color she wears will be accentuated by the footlights. For her blue eyes and own new blue concert gown she has chosen a light blue mascara.

SHE FEELS THAT a silver tint makes the eyes sparkle and for shopping or office wear chooses a subdued shade of green, black or brown. She feels that you should be gay with multicolored charm after six p.m. and cautions that you must be certain that the shade of mascara blends with the color of your dress as well as with your complexion.

In order to avoid brittle lashes Miss Merriman uses cold cream on her eyes and lashes before each change of makeup and applies a light pomade each night before retiring.

Here you have a few secrets of eye beauty from one of today's most glamorous women! I do think that few women are aware of the attractive and becoming effects

MEN OF VISION

McGee · 1858

In 1858 McGEE said:

"I see One Great Nation"

In the year 1858, with an inspired address to the Canadian Legislature, Thomas D'Arcy McGee began his crusade to unite Canada. President of the Council in 1862 and later Minister of Agriculture, D'Arcy McGee became the foremost apostle of Canadian unity and one of the Fathers of Confederation. Well may it be said of McGee: there was a man of vision, a clear-headed Canadian.

In 1622 CALVERT said:

"Preserve Unity...I see the Future"

OVER THREE CENTURIES ago, Calvert, famous English statesman and Secretary of State to King James I, founded pioneer colonies in Newfoundland and Maryland.

Man of vision, Calvert 300 years ago foresaw prosperity and growth through united effort. "Be partners and assist your neighbours," he wisely counselled his early settlers. "They are men of high esteem."

Far back in the 17th century Calvert may well have envisioned Canada's rich promise as a great nation when he said, "I see the future...it is a good country." Calvert's ideals of unity have been shared by all men of vision through the centuries since Calvert's time. Today...all Canadians can be men of vision...work earnestly together to make Canada "one great nation."

Upon unity of purpose depends the full measure of our stature as a nation. There is only one Canada for clear-headed Canadians.

Clear Heads Call for... a United Canada

Plane Carries Valuable "Ballast"

A C.P. Air Lines plane flew to and from Yellowknife the other day with a "most valuable load of ballast."

Here's what happened:

Two very ordinary-looking canvas sacks were shipped from Edmonton to a Yellowknife bank.

In the sacks was $1,500 in silver for change purposes.

CREWMEN NOTED THE SACKS on arrival at the gold mining centre.

"Ballast," they observed. "Leave 'em in for the return trip."

So the "ballast" came back to Edmonton again, keeping the big airliner on an even keel although the same could scarcely be said for the staff of the change-slaved bank up north.

The "ballast" went back north and all is in balance once more.

Postpone Parley On Civic Wages

Negotiations between Civic Union No. 30 and the City Commissioners being conducted by R. P. Rock, department of trade and industry, were adjourned until Friday, July 12, after a brief meeting held Tuesday morning at the Civic Block.

Mr. Rock was recently appointed conciliator of a dispute between the union and the City of Edmonton over 1946 wages and working conditions.

The union is seeking a 20 cents an hour wage increase and the inauguration of the 40-hour week. The city commissioners countered with a sliding scale of pay increases, and the establishment of the 40 hour week on April 1 next.

Recover Body

Before the Magistrate

Vladimir R. Baydurza, involved in a crack-up with a stop sign standard as a result of avoiding striking a street car, was fined $40 and costs or two months in jail when on investigation police found the brakes on his car were not in working order. Magistrate A. L. Millar, K.C., cautioned the man that if he appeared again on any such charge his driving license would be suspended.

"I see no reason for soft-pedaling here," remarked the magistrate when sentencing Victor Poznachuk to 30 days hard labor on a vagrancy charge. Evidence was brought forward to show the man had a record in other parts of the country. Another young man on a similar charge was placed on one year's suspended sentence and was warned to leave town on the first train and find work. A 23-year-old girl appearing on a vagrancy charge was placed on six months suspended sentence.
